Offering Butter Lamps

Dzogchen Beara Retreat Centre

Butter Lamp House

In all the world's great spiritual traditions lights are offered in prayer and remembrance for family and friends. At Dzogchen Beara Retreat Centre lights are offered in the Tibetan Buddhist custom in a traditional hand crafted Butter Lamp House. Lamps can be offered and lit directly by visitors to the centre or you can send us a request and we can light them for you.

You can offer for a loved one, a new venture or simply with a good intention. You can dedicate a single lamp, 21 or 108 lamps (traditionally auspicious numbers) or as many as you like. Your offering can be dedicated for those who are suffering, facing difficulties or for those who have died, for situations in the world that touch your heart ... or you can offer lights as an expression of love, joy or gratitude. In the past as many as 10,000 lights have been sponsored at once!

Sogyal Rinpoche, the spiritual director of Dzogchen Beara, lit the first lamp in 2005. Since then more than 100,000 butter lamps have been offered.

To offer your lights please complete the attached form or visit our webpage www.butterlamps.dzogchenbeara.org If you would like to light lamps in someone's name and let them or their family know, you can use the card provided.
